Dear Scott,

In my work as a Director of Business Transition and Move Management for CBRE, Inc., I am responsible for dealing with many details and unexpected challenges. So when someone presents something new and unique, I naturally have concerns. This is where I found myself when my close friend, Michelle, recommended that I go through your proprietary 3D Wealth process. But after seeing the difference between where I was headed and what you recommended, I was genuinely intrigued and ultimately had a total shift in my financial perspective.

Looking back now over our six-year relationship, it is amazing to see the results you were able to achieve. You have done for my financial world what I do for my clients' physical worlds, guiding me through a significant transition, delivering on everything you promised and handling every detail.

It would be my pleasure to recommend you to any of my friends and business associates without hesitation. I know they will be very well taken care of and presented with some exiting and innovative wealth strategies.

Many thanks,

Alyson J. Blewett
